Westlake's Baggsy Crowned King of Kings

London, 15 October, 2014.– Steve “Baggsy” Biagioni, finished the 2014 drift season on a high at the ‘King of Kings’ Super Finals in Malta - driving his Westlake-shod Acorn Zenises Nissan to outright victory. The pan-European season finale saw Baggsy battle it out amongst the very best European drifters. All participants were previous winners of a King of Europe championship event (or received an official wildcard entry) in order to compete for the €10,000 prize - the largest single purse of any European drift event.

Overcoming stormy conditions, night-time qualifying and a last minute venue change, the one-off competition, which this year marked its 10th anniversary, was action-packed from start to finish. Qualifying in first place, and subsequently seeing off strong competition, which included the 2013 ‘King of Europe’, Francesco Conti, the final round saw Baggsy and Westlake eventually triumph against current series champion Adam Kerényi from Hungary to take home the impressive trophy and winner’s prize.
